A terrific storm of wind and rain passed over Trenton, N. J., yesterday afternoon, unroofing houses and doing serious damage, both in the city and surrounding country. Among the largest buildings unroofed were the plant of the Trenton Mills and Elevator Company, the Watson machine shops and the schoolhouse of the Trinity Lutheran Church.

OVERRULES OBJECTION

JUDGE GOULD'S ACTION IN CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS.

Justice Gould of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, after a hearing on the motion filed by the District Commissioners, asking the court to finally ratify and confirm the verdict of the jury in the matter of the opening of connecting highways on the east and west sides of the Zoological Park, and to condemn the land necessary for the opening of the highways, overruled the objections made to the ratification of the verdict of the jury by Redford W. Walker, William H. Walker and others, through Attorneys R. Golden Donaldson and Alan O. Clephane.

The objectors contended that the verdict of the jury was unjust and unreasonable in so far as their property was concerned, and that a new jury should be summoned by the court in the case. Attorneys Donaldson and Clephane filed affidavits in support of their contention from Redford W. Walker, William H. Walker, Louis P. Heiskell, Archibald M. McLachlin, E. B. Townsend, Alexander T. Hensley, Frederick B. Pyle and William F. King. The District Commissioners, read affidavits that the verdict was not unjust, but was fair and equitable. The court, after a hearing on the matter, overruled the objections and confirmed the verdict of the jury.

Orders Land Condemned.

Justice Gould, by the order overruling the objections, condemns the land needed by the District Commissioners for the opening of the connecting highways. The jury, composed of William W. Cox, James F. Oyster, Charles B. Bailey, Clement W. Howard, John E. Herrell, Charles A. Baker and George W. Adams, awarded $207,044 damages for the land to be condemned, and assessed $23,506.00 against adjacent property as benefits. The court held the jury had evidently made no mistake of fact and that the questions as to whether their verdict was unjust or not was one to which there was merely a difference of opinion. It was added that it would be improper for the court to substitute its opinion for that of the members of the jury, all of whom were men of integrity and experience, who had carefully examined the land and considered the evidence submitted to them.

Choctaw Tax Decided Collectable.

SOUTH MALESTER, I. T., June 23.—The United States circuit court of appeals has just decided that the Choctaw tribal tax is collectable. Appeal had been taken to the United States Supreme Court. This leaves the Choctaw nation in practically the same position as the Creek nation, where resistance was met recently. The disposition among the business men of this place is to the effect that the federal government will make a settlement with the Indians.

EXTREME PENALTY.

George Lewis Sent to Jail for One Year Less a Day.

One year less a day in the District Jail, the extreme penalty awarded by Police Court justices, was that imposed on George Lewis this morning in the United States branch of the Police Court. Lewis was arrested on four charges of larceny, each time the article stolen being a wheel. He pleaded guilty to each of the charges, and after Officer Muldoon and Detective Muller had testified to the results of their investigations the penalty was imposed, as stated.

From his actions when taken into custody Lewis is believed to have stolen a large number of wheels. Tuesday he was arrested by Officer Muldoon and Detective Muller at the Police Court. He was taken to the station and charged with stealing a wheel which he was trying to sell to a second-hand dealer near 1st street and Pennsylvania avenue. The name and other marks on the wheel had been scratched off and it was suspected that it was stolen.

He admitted stealing it, but denied having stolen the other wheels. He also made the strongest oaths that he had not taken any other. Finally another was turned up and the proof against him was obtained. He then admitted that he took the wheels, but swore that he had taken no other, backing it with the declaration that he "breasted the gal" if he had. Two more were found to the larceny of which he pleaded guilty today. Another wheel which he is believed to have stolen is at the station house, but the proof is not entire as yet.

The capture is regarded by the police as an important one, owing to the large number of wheels that have been disappearing recently. This prisoner seems to have had a mania for taking wheels.

CLOUDY, COOLER TONIGHT.

Partly Cloudy Saturday, With Moderate Temperature.

Forecast till 8 p.m. Saturday: For the District of Columbia and Maryland, partly cloudy and cooler tonight. Saturday partly cloudy, with moderate temperature; light north to northeast winds.

For Virginia, partly cloudy and cooler tonight; probably showers in extreme southeast portion. Saturday partly cloudy; cooler on the coast; light to fresh north to northeast winds.

Maximum temperature past twenty-four hours, 92; a year ago, 80.

Weather conditions and general forecast: Showers and thunder storms have continued quite generally east of the Rocky mountains, except in the lake region, with lower temperatures as a rule. There were also rains in the north Pacific districts.

A high area of fair proportions, now over the upper lake region, is moving eastward. It will cause lower temperatures tonight in the middle Atlantic states and New England, and a continuation of moderate temperature for at least a day or two over the eastern portion of the country.

The weather in the east and south will be partly cloudy tonight and Saturday, with showers in the south.

The winds along the middle Atlantic coast will be light to fresh north to northeast; in the south Atlantic coast light to southwesterly, becoming variable; on the east gulf coast light and variable, and on the lower lakes light to fresh northeast to east.

Steamers departing today for European ports will have fresh northerly winds, with generally fair weather, to the Grand Banks. The following heavy precipitation (in inches) has been reported during the past twenty-four hours: Washington, 1.20; Mount Weather, 1.84; Little Rock, 2.78; Galveston, 1.24; Corpus Christi, 1.1
